Meat Rationing On March 29

Farmers Must Ration Meats

OPA Advises Farmers How They Must Handle Stamps on Sale Rationed Items

Letters are being mailed to farmers by the local War Price and Rationing Board and from the local War Board advising them how to handle their slaughtered meats.

When rationing begins on March 29th, the first set of stamps marked A, worth 16 points will be valid. Beginning April 4th and then on each succeeding Sunday throughout April an additional set of stamps will be validated. All these stamps, from A to E inclusive will remain in use all month making a total of 80 points for April.

Consumers will not be asked to declare the amount of the newly rationed foods on hand.

If you sell meat to the grocer you should collect meat stamps or ration checks and bring to Local Ration Board office.

If you sell or give meat to your neighbors you should collect stamps and bring them to the Local Ration Board office. Meat slaughtered after April 1 for other than home use must be done under license issued by the USDA War Board.

If you use meat you have produced on your own farm you shall leave stamps in War Ration Book No. 2 in the same value as if you purchased the same meat in a store.

The meat and fat rationing covers, meats, cheese, butter, fat, cooking oil, canned fish, margarine, and bouillion cubes.

No Butter Has Been Available During Week

OPA banned the sale of butter, margarine, lard and other fats and oils Sunday in a sudden move to forestall hoarding. These will be sold starting next Monday under the rationing program.

These food products will be rationed starting next Monday together with meat, cheese and canned fish. It is not contemplated that there will be a ban on the sale of fresh meats this week before rationing starts due to the fact that fresh meats cannot be kept long.

According to announcement, these changes are made in order that classes may conform with the army program which is getting underway this week at West Texas State College.

War time has not been observed during the winter months due to the fact that the days are so short and children riding the busses to school in Canyon would have been forced to start long before sun rise.

Cadets Arrive To Start Work

Captain D. L. Echols, Commandant, Heads Staff of Officers

A local chapter of the World's Fighting, 1st Fraternity, The Army Air Forces, was established on the campus of West Texas State College Tuesday with the arrival of Flying Training Command personnel assigned here to head the newly instigated college training program for Aviation Cadets.

The new program, as announced recently by the War Department, will see thousands of Cadet Reserves inducted immediately into colleges from coast to coast for academic and military courses prior to their actual training. After the program is under way students will take a five month course.

A limited flying program will be conducted for all students in cooperation with the CAA War Training Service.

The Detachment at West Texas State College, one of the many selected colleges, will be headed by Captain Dawsie L. Echols, Air Force Commandant who arrived Monday. No announcement as to the number of future wingmen to be stationed here could be made at this time, Captain Echols said.

The training schedule, which will be conducted without interruption to the regular college curriculum at West Texas State College, will fall into four major groupings: academic, military, physical and flying. Purpose of the program will be to better prepare men for Cadet training in the AAF Flying Training Command and thereby vastly reduce costly eliminations.

Students will be enrolled as Privates, and remain such until the completion of the course at which time they will be sent to one of the Flying Training Commands Classification Centers as Cadets and assigned to training as pilots, bombardiers or navigators.

During the five months course, students will receive over 700 hours of academic and military instruction. Regular University or College personnel will conduct the academic and physical phase of the training. Academic subjects include mathematics, physics, current history, geography, English, and Civil Air Regulations. Physical training will be stressed here in order to fit trainees to absorb future intensive training without undue fatigue or ill effects.

Captain Echols and his staff, which will act in an advisory capacity in regards to academics, will have direct supervision of the military indoctrination program, which will include infantry drill, ceremonies and inspection, first aid, and customs and courtesies of the service.

Other Members of Captain Echols' staff are: Capt. Oscar J. Jacobi, 1st Lt. John W. Worsham, 2nd Lts. Earl B. Essing, Milton E. Wray, and Manly D. Ballard; T-Sgt. Thomas W. Huffstickler, Sgt. LeVon G. Baxter, Robert E. Covel and Charles C. Graham, Cpl. Joseph H. Johnston, and Pvts. James H. Marshall, Paul R. Sammons, Jr., and Charles R. Glass.

Must Have Slaughter Permit

War Board to Meet March 29

Regulations Are Imposed on Farmers Who Handle Slaughtering of Their Own

Permits to slaughter livestock for sale of meat will be issued by USDA War Boards. These permits will be required of all persons who slaughter and sell meat on and after April 1. This will include farmers who sell only occasionally to neighbors or to stores, as well as the butchers who slaughter regularly.

Object of the National meat program is to control "black market" operations, to obtain adequate supplies of meat for direct war needs and to secure the necessary control over the supply of meat so that it can be fairly distributed through consumer rationing.

Farmers who slaughter for home use only will not be required to obtain permits. However, permits will be required if any meat is delivered to others.

All slaughterers are required to keep complete records of all livestock slaughtered.

Each slaughter permit will be given a number. This number must be stamped or written on each wholesale cut of meat delivered. If meat is sold at retail by the slaughterer a tag bearing the permit number may be used.

In addition to the permit system for livestock slaughter all dealers who buy livestock for resale within 30 days are required to obtain permits to buy and sell livestock and to keep accurate and complete records of all livestock sold regardless of whether or not they are classed as dealers.

All those who will need permits are urged to call at the County Agent's office for application blanks before April 1st. The County USDA War Board will meet Monday, March 29 and will receive any applications which are completed by that time. Other meetings will be held as often as once each week during April, if necessary to approve application for either dealer or slaughter permits.

Victory Garden Bulletins May Be Secured

Congressman Eugene Worley has written the News that government bulletins are now available on Victory Gardens. Mr. Worley will be glad to forward copies of bulletins to those who mail a postcard to him at Washington, D. C. These bulletins will be of use to both farmers and townspeople.

Jimmie Allred Is Not Approved by Senate Committee

It is likely that James V. Allred will not get the office of Federal Judge.

The Senate committee hearing his case voted 9 to 9 Monday on his confirmation, which still holds his name before the committee, and lessens his chances of confirmation.

Allred, former Governor of Texas, resigned one federal judgeship to run against Senator W. Lee O'Daniel. O'Daniel won. A few weeks ago the President nominated Allred for another federal post. Senator O'Daniel has bitterly fought the nomination as political trade between the President and Allred.

So far O'Daniel has his way, and Jimmie is without a job.

CLARENCE ZACHRY PROMOTED

According to word from Fort Bliss, Clarence D. Zachry has been promoted to Sergeant in the army.

Sgt. Zachry has been in the service for several months and his promotion is in recognition of his meritorious application to duty.

TOO MANY BUREAUCRATS

The News has called attention many times in past years that our government was overloaded with bureaus which were not functioning. Washington has more people doing nothing, or at least on jobs which accomplish nothing, than any city in the world. Right now, in the face of manpower shortage, should be the time to weed out unnecessary bureaus. But nothing is being done about it.

We have one example in the Panhandle which should make every citizen's blood boil with shame. More than a year ago it was decided to locate an ordnance plant north of Amarillo. Farmers were told to move off their land in 14 days. They were not asked whether or not they wanted to sell their land, they were simply told to move; and move they did.

There was a splendid wheat crop on the land. A Polk Street "farmer" was given the contract to harvest and market the wheat. Naturally the farmers received nothing.

It takes from a week to six weeks to close the average real estate deal where there is no question about the title. In this instance the title was not a matter of question, because there never has been a title which could not be cured in federal court. Furthermore, the government would not have spent millions of dollars in building a munition plant on this land if there was a question about the title.

What have the farmers received for their land? Absolutely nothing! They were dispossessed of their homes, lost their crops, left without capital on which to operate for more than a year, and up to this good hour, the pay for this land has been held up by some two-by-four petty official in Washington who evidently does not give a damn about the farmers of Carson county.

If this same practice prevails over the nation in buying land for other government projects, you may sum it up that thousands of farmers are being deprived of millions of dollars of operating capital, and are not producing the food which they would have produced had the government paid them off when they were dispossessed of their homes.

Another little item of bureaucracy: Months ago the government announced the need of typewriters. Dealers were asked to qualify as a receiving depot, and citizens were urged to turn in their machines. The News has sold typewriters for years, but decided not to get mixed up with this depot business. Many people turned in their machines, and there are large stocks of machines held over the nation by many dealers. What has happened? The dust continues to accumulate on these machines. No one has called for a single one of these machines, and now it is announced, after postponement of gathering date several times, that about May 15 will be the time for turning in used machines. In the meanwhile thousands of people have done without the use of their machines, thinking that it was the patriotic duty to turn the machines to the government. The News has stated time and time again in recent years that when government refuses to be honest with the people, the people loses respect for government and will not be honest with government. Honesty is a question of necessity on the part of both.

This draft deferment business certainly has upset men of the 38-45 year bracket. They are trying to determine what vocation is essential, and whether or not they would be deferrent if they changed jobs. Thousands of these men are rushing to their local boards, trying to get information. It is with regret that the men are told that regulations are changed so often that whatsoever may be true today will not be true tomorrow. The safe thing is for every man to keep right on doing the job that he knows and in which he is now engaged. When the armed services need men of this age, or it becomes necessary to take married men with children, chances are no job will be considered wholly essential.

Post-war planning is going forward as Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, spends considerable time talking with our government officials. In spite of opposition by the isolationists and others who would oppose the administration in post-war talk at this time, it is more and more evident that unless we begin to write the peace now, we will end this war by writing the ticket for another war. And again, our valiant soldiers, sailors and marines have died in vain!

Just two weeks until the Panhendle Press Association meets. Members should look for their official program in a few days. In the meanwhile, get ready to attend the 34th Annual Convention in Amarillo April 9-10.

Hitler came out of hiding Sunday to make a few croaking remarks. But he did not rave as in the past, and admitted his German hordes were in a pretty bad fix.

They got our butter a week before hand, just to keep the greedy ones from hoarding up, as they did on canned goods.

The Legislative Grapevine

By GRADY HAZLEWOOD
Senator 31st District

Perhaps the most important legislative matters this week took shape in the Senate. House Bill No. 159, to reallocate money already in the Old Age Pension Fund, passed the Senate by a vote of 23 to 3. The purpose of this bill was to restore pension cuts and avoid future cuts.

Of great interest and public concern was the Senate Labor Committee's long drawn out public hearing of four labor bills which were voted out favorably by the committee on a viva voce vote. The hearing lasted until midnight. All bills were controversial and at times the hearing was marked with heated discussions.

House Bill, No. 100, commonly referred to as the Manford Bill, has been given much newspaper publicity because it was the first labor bill introduced. It is by far the most controversial. Labor contends that the measure serves no purpose and that it is an unwarranted and punitive measure directed at letigimate labor unions that have been operating with public approval in Texas for more than fifty years. Newspaper accounts have referred to the Manford Bill as one that regulates labor unions, and, for some reason, have left the public with the impression that it prohibits labor racketeering. The public may be surprised to learn, however, that the Manford Bill does not attempt to stop strikes for higher wages or work cessations and stoppages which slow down production; that it does not attempt to regulate or prohibit job selling, closed shops, unwarranted picketing; that it will not prevent labor elections which upon a majority vote, compel all other workers to join the Union against their consent; that it does not specifically limit or place a definite fixed ceiling on the amount of initiation fees, dues, or assessments that may be charged for union membership. Labor says that all the bill does is to surround them with a lot of red tape and other useless regulations such as business itself is so much complaining about.

Senator Ben Ramsey is the author of two bills, one of which is similar to the Manford Bill and the other specifically prohibits unlawful picketing and strikes. Another bill makes a criminal offense of job selling, and for any labor union to charge higher fees and dues than were charged in the three pre-war years.

Governor Coke Stevenson continues to get up at five o'clock in the morning and is in his office at six, long before anyone else is in the capitol. Incidentally, he is doing one thing that no other Governor of Texas has done in many years. He is reading and studying carefully every bill passed by the legislature for the purpose of discovering legal defects that would render the bills invalid. He has so far discovered some twenty-five or thirty such bills and because of this extra work he has saved the tax payers a great deal of money by avoiding useless law suits testing the validity of statutes.

UNION

"So you're out of work and want help? What's your trade?"

"I'm a painter, mister."

"Painter, eh? Well, now, my car needs painting. What would you charge to do that job?"

"Two dollars an hour."

"Two dollars an hour? Why, I wouldn't pay Michelangelo two dollars an hour in times like these!"

"Well, mister, I don't know this Michelangelo; but if he paints cars at less than two dollars an hour he doesn't belong to the union."

THE ENEMY'S forced you to rationing. Now he'd make your engine the victim of vicious acid. The mere stopping of your engine always leaves it stuffed with vile fumes and dilute acids—the ever-present products of combustion. And there they stay.

Formerly these sources of corrosion were kept mostly cleared out, because you drove frequently and fast. But now in saving coupons and tires you may not soon use your car again, and you don't make those long speedy runs that maintained normal engine heat a good while, to help drive acids off. That's why harmful leftovers in the cylinders nowadays are serious. But you can combat their dirty work by keeping your engine internally OIL-PLATED.

How? Just change to Conoco N*th* motor oil this Spring. It's made under U. S. Patent No. 1,944,941, covering an added modern synthetic in Conoco N*th*, whose proved purpose is to give inner engine parts their preservative layer of OIL-PLATING. And like the more familiar platings that arrest the attacks of mere water, this OIL-PLATING powerfully tends to arrest acid action . . . inner corrosion of precious parts that often can't be promptly replaced today. Yet you pay only an everyday price for Conoco N*th*. Change for Spring at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.

Chas. W. Mays Is Promoted to Colonel in Army

COLONEL C. W. MAYS

Lt. Col. C. W. Mays, commander of the 8th Regiment, Field Artillery Replacement Training Center of Fort Sill, has been advanced to the rank of Colonel.

Colonel Mays, a native of Fort Worth, came to Fort Sill January 11, 1941, to help organize the Replacement Center. Production on the Home Front

Demonstrations by rural families and Experiment Station results have proved conclusively that small fruits and certain varieties of tomatoes can be produced successfully on the high plains. Doris Leggitt, district agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service, who supervises home demonstration work in 16 Panhandle counties, says 1942 experiences added more evidence.

Hutchinson County home demonstration club women, for example, added 27 new strawberry beds last year. A Randall County farm woman sold strawberries valued at $573 from less than one-fourth of an acre planting. In addition, her family enjoyed fresh strawberries at home from June through November.

Miss Leggitt says she has heard many stories of women and girls sharing their strawberry plants with friends and neighbors. One home demonstration club woman in Deaf Smith County, Mrs. Nolie Ellison, set out 300 plants in 1938, and since that time she has given away 40,000 plants. She kept the names of all the recipients, until the list numbered more than 100 families. Pearl Maize, Hansford County 4-H Club girl, decided that giving away 4,700 strawberry plants required so much time she had better charge for the service. Her fee was 10 cents for 25, and after setting her price she made $10 on an additional 2,500.

Windbreaks set out by farm families during the past five years are changing the face of the Panhandle. Here Mrs. H. B. Urban of Ochiltree County, demonstrator for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, shows growth of a two-year old red cedar in the windbreak which protects her home, poultry yard, barns and other buildings.

Increased production of berries, grapes, plums, cherries, currants, rhubarb, tomatoes, and the like has been a district-wide program, Miss Leggitt says. Most counties in the Panhandle also have carried on a farm home landscape program, emphasizing conservation as well as beauty. As a result, many Panhandle families have planted windbreaks for the protection of small fruit plots, gardens, and poultry yards as well as homes.

"Windbreaks set out in 1938 and 1939 are definite footprints of Extension Service work in all parts of Hemphill, Ochiltree, and Deaf Smith counties," Miss Leggitt says. These account largely for the increased interest in windbreaks throughout the district.

When Forest Service shelterbelt nurseries were closed in April, 1942, the Extension Service helped place 96,423 trees in 11 counties. Hansford county alone placed 6,749 trees in 30 windbreaks. Of 14,000 trees planted in Deaf Smith county windbreaks last year, 2,250 were evergreens.

The landscape improvement program and war-time transportation difficulties are teaching rural Panhandle families to "play in their own back yards," the district agent points out. In addition, there has been a steady increase in community recreation. The Wyche community in Deaf Smith county meets regularly for fun and food, often at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Thiele, yard improvement demonstrators. The entire community is proud of this yard. An Ochiltree county family . . . the A. L. Carters . . . sets aside Saturday night as "children's night." When the weather permits, they cook supper in the fireplace in one corner of their outdoor living room.

Miss Leggitt says that many communities have similar arrangements for community and family recreation near home. Home demonstration club women feel this will help keep "homes a good place to come back to when war ends."

Deferments Are Discussed by Head Selective Service

Occupational classification of registrants has been revised to meet the exigencies of war, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, announces.

"When Selective Service began functioning in the fall of 1941," he pointed out, "our Nation was at peace. With Pearl Harbor and the declaration of war one year later, the requirements of the armed forces and the demands for war production were drastically increased. It is absolutely necessary that men and materials be drawn from the non-essential activities and directed in increasing numbers and amounts to the use of the armed forces, to war production, and to other activities supporting the war effort.

"As stated in a directive received today from National Headquarters," General Page said, "the Selective Service System has the responsibility of selecting men for military service and of furnishing them at the time and in the number necessary for the armed forces of the Nation. On the other hand, the Selective Service System has the corallary responsibility to select for retention in their civilian endeavor an adequate supply of trained, qualified or skilled men in order to maintain those civilian activities necessary to war production and other civilian activities essential to the support of the war effort.

"The manpower resources of this country, when properly allocated, will supply these requirements, but it is vitally important that geographical and employment dislocations of trained, qualified, or skilled personnel be recognized and properly taken into consideration to prevent a wastage of such manpower.

"Thus, it is the responsibility of the Selective Service System, thru the process of classification, to accomplish an orderly adjustment of the manpower resources of the Nation, so that all available men will properly and expeditiously be directed into that channel of activity where the Nation at war will be best served."

General Page pointed out that no substantial change has been made in the Selective Service Act or Regulations, but a new interpretation must now be placed on the phrases "national health, safety, or interest" and "war production" to the end that activities essential to the prosecution of the war are properly developed and maintained. This new interpretation, he said, will require a more careful consideration of the essential character of the activity in which the registrant is engaged, the occupation which the registrant holds in that activity, and the need for the registrant in that occupation. Henceforth, only those civilian activities which are really necessary to war production or essential to the support of the war effort can be accorded the protection of occupational deferment from military service in the armed forces.

General Page said that Selective Service agencies have been furnished with "Activity and Occupational Bulletins," certified by the War Manpower Commission, to assist them in the task of occupational classification. Information contained in these bulletins, he said, will be given full weight and consideration in the determination of occupational deferments, but the fact that a particular activity or occupation is or is not included in an "Activity and Occupational Bulletin" is not conclusive.

Factors governing deferment which should be considered in classifying the individual registrant in essential occupations within essential activities are:

(a) The training, qualification, or skill required for the proper discharge of the duties involved in his occupation;

(b) The training, qualification, or skill of the registrant to engage in his occupation; and

(c) The availability of persons with the qualification or skill, or who can be trained to his qualification, to replace the registrant and the time in which such replacement can be made.

Educators Select Superintendent Treasurer of Conference Friday

Dr. Pechstein Recommends Utilization of Resources

Supt. J. B. Speer of Canyon was elected treasurer of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education Friday when about 1700 persons attended a one-day session in the Amarillo Senior High School auditorium. Canyon teachers attended almost one hundred per cent.

Other new officers include the following: President, Chester Strickland of White Deer; vice-president, Supt. Blake Bolton of Dalhart; secretary, Miss Margaret Jones, of Pampa; executive committeeman, A. B. Lewis of Amarillo.

F. L. Moffett of Center, president of the Texas State Teachers' Association, followed with an explanation of legislation which will affect Texas education. Group singing was led by Prof. E. J. Schultz of the University of Oklahoma.

Amarillo A Capella choir, directed by Miss Julia Dean, entertained at the beginning of the afternoon session.

John P. Manning, regional NYA director was the first afternoon speaker. He said 91,000 students are receiving aid from NYA while in colleges.

Major N. C. Voshel of the Amarillo Army Air Field urged that schools give more attention to physical education and that reasonable discipline be developed both in schools and in homes. Dr. Maycie Southall of the United States Office of Defense and Welfare spoke briefly of her work.

RECONSTRUCTION PLAN

Dr. Louis A. Pechstein, when speaking at the Northwest Conference for Education in Amarillo stated that he "saw the most tragic picture in All American history." It was a picture of World War I, followed by the "unwanted" generation, with four million boys and girls unemployed in the depression years.

Today mankind has again lost its reason, internationally, and youth is being called upon to kill or to build instruments for the killing of other youths. The ten millions or more of men who come home from this war may return, in countless instances, "to jobs they never had," Dr. Pechstein said. The post-war period may be worse than war.

Dr. Pechstein recommended a long-range planning program dominated by the federal government, with the emergence of a powerful industrial economy in which recourses of men and machines will be utilized to the fullest extent; a huge public works program; educating of men whose educations were interrupted by the war.

He envisioned an era of cheaper education — cheaper dormitories, lower general costs, less academic isolation, more vocational training plus some general education. He suggested that students be kept two years longer in high schools and that, for the masses, their educations be terminated there. Colleges would be reserved for students taking technical training or advanced research.

Schools Promote Jeep Campaign

With a goal of 354 jeeps to be purchased in Bonds and Stamps before April 21, San Jacinto Day, students in schools all over the nation are launching the Jeep Campaign.

By acquiring a $900 jeep, a school will be entitled to a pictured certificate signed by Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr. and special recognition on an appropriated statewide radio ceremony.

This drive must, however, be completed within definite dates and must succeed the average purchase of Stamps and Bonds for similar periods.

Child Problem Is Speaker's Topic

How do parents and teachers irritate children?

This question was answered by Dr. Louis A. Pechstein of the University of Cincinnati Friday at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education held in Amarillo.

Dr. Pechstein said there are four major ways in which children are irritated. They are:

1. By consistently treating the child as an inferior, thus causing an inferiority complex.
2. By withholding praise for work well done.
3. By stifling the creative tendency.
4. By adult insistence upon obeying all law regardless of how irrational it may be to the child.

Dr. Pechstein urged teachers and parents to develop in the child an appreciation of himself and to provide pleasant activities and opportunities for creative endeavor.

Graders Combine Musical Talent

Combining grade school musical talent, Miss Mary Roberts will offer the third in a series of programs for victory, Friday, April 2, in the Canyon High School Auditorium.

Each of the six classes will be represented by the singing of two musical selections.

Intramurals Designate Powerful Team

Hoopsters Wage Class Combats

Team Winners Compete Friday in Final Game

Monopolizing the eyes of the Canyon High sports fans are the intramural basketball sets waging during the noon period in the high school gymnasium.

Beginning the two-week tournament with a flourish, the eighth grade defeated the seventh in a fight to victory Monday, March 15. This game was followed by a battle between the freshmen and the sophomores on Tuesday with the sophomores winners.

On Wednesday of last week the games between the senior and junior hoopsters was fought. Although the juniors lost this tilt, they became victors Friday, in the skirmish with the freshmen.

Eliminating games resulted in the following: eighth graders were defeated by the sophomores; juniors won over seventh graders. Winners of the sophomore-senior game and the junior-eighth grade game will play tomorrow night although the notice, that the finals were to be played last Friday, was given.

Students Gather Victory Books

Students in Canyon High School have collected more than one hundred books to start their Victory Book Campaign.

"These books have been stacked in a prominent place in the hall to remind students to bring more books and to show them what others have brought," said Supt. J. B. Speer.

A committee composed of Mr. Speer, Miss Mildred Cole, Miss Rhita Jean Sullivan, and Milton Sanders met Tuesday morning to discuss plans for dividing the Victory Corps membership into different groups.

Students Improve Spelling Ability

Henry Hardaway of Mrs. T. W. Collins' first grade enjoyed a surprise birthday party Tuesday, March 16. Mrs. Ray Hardaway, his mother, served Easter candy, punch, and cookies.

Moving to California last week were the Smallins: James Ed, first grade; John Frank, third grade; Bobbie Nell, fifth grade.

Intermediate boys and girls under the names of Boy Spellers Army Corps and Girl Spellers of America have been advancing in their organizations by making hundreds in spelling lessons. The private title is applied to one who makes one hundred; corporal means one has made two one hundreds; sergeant refers to those making three one hundreds.

Because of the enthusiasm for hundreds, the intermediate section had a 98 average in spelling for the week.

New students in the Canyon Public Schools include Ray June Cabe from Hawthorne, California; Bill and J. Bryan English from Lubbock, and Carrie Holler from Sweetwater.

Dr. Moore Leads Panel Discussion

"Finish high school. Then go to college if at all possible."

This advice was given by Dr. Bernice Moore, consulting sociologist of the University of Texas and the Hogg Foundation, as she conducted a panel discussion of youth problems at Canyon High School recently.

Those taking part in the discussion were Shirley Harrell, who also introduced Dr. Moore, Carolyn Black, J. Spencer Winn, Ellen Sanders, Mollie Nann Ziegler, Manus Read Foster, Arthur Duncan, and Dana Persons.

"This summer will be no time for a vacation in the usual sense," Dr. Moore said. "Go to school if you can. Otherwise, do farm work, take care of children, raise a Victory garden, or do some other essential war-time work.

"High school and college work should be done in the shortest possible time. Men must have military training in college, but women may select courses of long-range value."

The worldly hope men set their hearts upon
Turns ashes—or it prospers; and anon,
Like snow upon the desert's dusty face
Lighting a little hour or two—is gone.—Omar Khayyam.

Victory Corps Leaders

Victory Corps officials, Don Standley, second in command; Vergie Ruth Haines, secretary; Tommy Thompson, commanding officer, are now ready to begin active duty. These students were chosen by a group of teachers on their aptitude to responsibility.

Students who have not volunteered for the corps may secure application blanks from Supt. J. B. Speer or Miss Rhita Jean Sullivan.

Eighth Grade Professors Proclaim Hunter Best Backward Speller

To determine the best speller from a group of 20 students chosen from the student body, the eighth grade held a spelling bee Thursday morning in assembly and awarded cakes to J. Ray Hunter and Juanita Anderson for spelling the most words correctly—BACKWARDS.

Norma Zachry was master of ceremonies, Bill Davis was timekeeper, and James Guthrie awarded the prizes.

When a contestant missed a word, he was required to sit on the dunce stool and wear a dunce cap until someone else took his place. Then, to confirm his social standing, he received a sucker and was sent back to his seat in the audience.

At the beginning of the program, Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave a short talk on the Books of the Bible and furnished small pamphlets of the Book of Proverbs for students living in the country.

Closing the program, J. B. Rutland, state supervisor of agricultural education and sponsor of the Future Farmers of America, explained what a student's attitude toward food rationing should be.

Farmers Conduct Varied Projects

Overhauling motors, making small tools, tearing down cars, and building pig feeders have recently occupied the attention of the farm engineering class, taught by Cecil Briggs.

Car, tractor, washing machine, and water pump motors are among the types overhauled by the boys. These run-down motors, long out of use, were brought from home by some of the students, and some have successfully been brought back into use.

Using a forge, the boys have made shimmy bars, cold chisels, punches, and tent pegs. They have also filed hammers and axes, and made new handles for them.

Those who have brought cars to be overhauled are Charles SoRelle, Charles Thornton, and Billy Bible. All the boys are completely overhauling the Canyon FFA bus.

This class has an efficient method of checking out tools. Each student has a number of coupons on which is a letter, different from the letters of other students. When a tool is checked out, a coupon is hung on a nail in the place of the tool.

Amaryllis strong and bold
Come along to cheer me on,
So I'll soon be nice and strong.

Loving Cup and Basketballs Are Awards to Winning Basketeers

Since Canyon High School students will not participate in Easter holidays this year, they will be allowed to vacate their alma mater on Thursday, April Fool's Day. School will be resumed Friday.

Press Club Will Sponsor Final Intramural Game

To determine the class with the best basketball team, to honor the said team, and to present awards to the best player of each class squad is the purpose of the final intramural game to be held tomorrow night at 8:00.

Sponsored by the press club, the game will cost 11 cents for everyone, the proceeds of which will be used to cover the expenses.

Supt. J. B. Speer reports that a small loving cup with the name of the winning class engraved upon it, will be given to the conquering basketeers, while silver basketballs will be awarded to the members of this team and the all-tournament team.

Constantly working to boost his respective team to the finals are the following coaches — Seniors, Max Bosley; Juniors, Bobbie Dowd; Sophomores, Don Standley; Freshmen, Leslie Gordon; Eighth, Wayne Wirt; and Seventh, J. Spencer Winn.

Senior letterman George Black has been the official intramural referee, and will perform that duty tomorrow night.

Editor Martha Jean Dowd stated, "Our price is equalized to urge a larger crowd of all ages."

Students Prepare Complete Meals

Yesterday and today 13 Homemaking I students prepared complete meals and served them in the dining room.

While the remainder of the group polished silver, pressed linen, arranged centerpieces, and attended to other details, Betty Jean Evans, Shirley Harrison, Reabeth House, Cheri Kilchreste, Betty Roland, and Geraldine McCutchen prepared the meal yesterday. This menu was composed of shepherd's pie, carrot salad, hot biscuits and butter, and custard.

Today's menu—potato salad, boiled spinach, corn sticks and butter, and chocolate pudding, was prepared by Bobbie Lee Graham, Jessie Pearl Harding, Frances Harp, Kathleen Hillier, Sue Ann Moreman, Tony Patton, and Pauline Ruthardt.

"We have been trying to economize in our department, and of course rationing has caused us to use more fresh vegetables," said Miss Louise Novak, student teacher of the class, in discussing the effects of the war on the menus.

Guests for the meals were Supt. J. B. Speer, Miss Rhita Jean Sullivan, homemaking supervisor, and Miss Mary Isabelle Hanvey, student teacher.

School Submits Program Shots

As a nation-wide school project, the sponsoring of Stamp and Bond sales through the presentation of Victory programs already has netted nearly two and a half million dollars, according to Miss Nell Parmley, state director of music.

During the second Victory program of a series, the Canyon High School band and chorus had pictures made of both the audience and the musicians. These were sent to Miss Parmley for use as publicity in the project.

Junior Class Flies First Honor Flag

Success in soliciting 90 per cent of their class members to buy War Bonds and Stamps has made it possible for the Juniors to fly their banner beneath the United States flag on the school pole.

However, the other class sponsors, Mrs. Guy Tabor, Miss Rhita Jean Sullivan, Mrs. Cecil Simms, Miss Mildred Cole, and Mrs. Floyd Dunsworth, assure the Juniors that other flags will be flying soon.

Designed of navy blue on a white background, the flag which was first to wave featured the word "Juniors" diagonally from one corner to the other. In another corner are three stars, while in the fourth corner is a V in which are three dots and a dash.

Made of purple and white taffeta, the senior flag bears a large "1943" on a purple background.

A gold fish on a navy background is the feature of the Freshman flag. The figure '46 is in one corner of the flag.

Flags from the remaining classes have not been constructed.

Uncle Sam Wants GARDENS!

• Uncle Sam insists that we all have Victory gardens this year—big ones and small ones, in town and country.

Plan your garden now, or join in the plans of your neighbors. Grow your own vegetables because the chances are you won't be able to buy them at the corner grocery. Gardens mean fresh food all summer and a food reserve stored away for winter. Gardens mean Health—lowered food costs—and practical PATRIOTISM!

Ask us about International Harvester's 84-page booklet, "Have a Victory Garden." It's a dandy—packed with helpful information on soil, seedbeds, fertilizers, hotbeds, cold frames, planting, cultivating, weed control, insect and disease control, harvesting, winter storage, etc.

Let's all garden for Victory and save all we raise.

New Building Is Accepted

Science Building Was Seen by Regents' Committee Tuesday

A committee from the Board of Regents came here Tuesday to give official acceptance of the new Science Building.

Some adjustment of the contract will be necessary because of inability to install lighting fixtures. The heating, while not completed, is covered by a separate contract. Sidewalks, which will be run this week if weather permits, are not under contract.

It is believed that priorities may be obtained soon for materials needed to finish the building and make it available to the military forces. The structure has been admired by all who have inspected it. Not only is the exterior striking, but the interior is well-finished and built-in features are outstanding. Building methods used required a minimum of critical materials.

The structure was made possible by a $170,000 legislative appropriation.

TRUTHFUL ANYWAY

"Did you notice any suspicious characters in the neighborhood?" the magistrate inquired.

"Sure," replied the new Irish policeman. "I saw but one man, and I asked him what he was doing there at that time of night. Sez he, 'I have no business here just now, but I expect to open a bank in the vicinity later on.'"

"Yes," replied the magistrate, "and he did open a bank in the vicinity later on and stole $20,000."

"Begorra!" answered the policeman. "The man may have been a thafe, but he was no liar."

Prospective Boarder: "The window is quite small. It wouldn't be much good in an emergency."

Landlady: "There ain't going to be any emergency. My terms are cash in advance."

TOO SUGGESTIVE

Much of the success of the flower show had been due to Smith, who'd organized it all, and, being an ardent horticulturist, had won quite a few prizes.

Later on, he was reading the report in the local paper when he jumped to his feet, with an angry bellow.

Why, what's wrong?" asked Mrs. Smith, dropping her knitting at the outburst.

"Listen to this!" he roared. "It says here: 'As Mr. Smith mounted the platform to open the show, all eyes were fixed on the large red nose he displayed. Only years of careful cultivation could have produced an exhibit of such brilliance.'"

CHARACTERIZED

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to lie for it, and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, and the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, faith; to a married woman, hope; and to an old maid, charity.

First She: "Does your husband talk in his sleep?"

Second She: "No, and it's terribly exasperating. He just grins."

RED STAMP RATIONING REMINDER

Red stamps from War Ration Book Two, which are good for the purchase of meats, cheeses, edible fats and oils and canned fish, will become valid and will expire as follows:

Week Beginning	Red Stamps Bearing Letter	Stamps Expire
March 29	A—(16 points)	April 30
April 4	B—(16 points)	April 30
April 11	C—(16 points)	April 30
April 18	D—(16 points)	April 30
April 25	E—(16 points)	to be announced

Blue Ration Stamp Calendar

Blue stamps D, E, and F in War Ration Book Two, totaling 48 points, will be good from March 25 through April 30. Stamps A, B, and C will be valid only through March 31. Consequently, between March 25 and March 31, blue stamps A thru F may be used to buy rationed canned foods.

More Meat for Shortage Areas

After OPA empowered regional administrators to act whenever an area has an acute meat shortage which endangers public health,, morale, or the war effort, the Dallas OPA office began authorizing slaughterers in some areas to increase their deliveries.

Plenty of Canning Supplies

Plenty of metal closures and rubber jar rings will be available for American housewives who will be doing an increased amount of canning this year. The War Production Board has removed all quota restrictions on the manufacture of certain types of metal lids used to seal the jars. Prohibition of the use of zinc is continued.

More Turkeys This Year

Turkey growers plan to raise about 37 million turkeys this year, according to February 1 returns from over 5,000 farmers throughout the U. S. This would be the largest crop of turkeys ever produced in this country—12 per cent larger than the 1942 crop.

Support for Sweet Potato Prices

Prices of sweet potatoes produced in 1943 will be supported by the Department of Agriculture. Secretary Claude Wickard has asked farmers to plant 1 million acres in 1943, to meet increased demands for sweet potatoes. FDA will support U. S. No. 1 grade at $1.15 to $1.45 per bushel depending upon the season. U. S. No. 2 will be supported at 15 cents per bushel below the No. 1 price.

Fresh Vegetable Prices Set

A temporary order issued by the regional OPA office at Dallas sets maximum dollars and cents prices which shippers may charge for cabbage, spinach, carrots and snap beans produced in the six-state region, and establishes uniform markups for other handlers of these fresh vegetables at all trade levels. The price action, which became effective March 20, is intended to relieve wholesalers and retailers from a price "squeeze." Maximum prices on lettuce, tomatoes and green peas still are governed by the current temporary price freeze order.

Recap Rules Changed

Farm tractor and implement tires now will be recapped only with a material made almost entirely of reclaimed rubber, and replacements will not be issued for tires that are reçappable, OPA announced. A rationing cecrtificate is not necessary in order to have a farm tractor or implement tire recapped with the Grade F camelback.

Farmers Get Needed Gas

Pointing out that ODT's mileage control program for commercial motor vehicles is completely flexible, ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman stated that farmers may request adjustment of their certificates of war necessity to get additional gasoline whenever necessary. Such requests should be made to the farm transportation committees of the USDA county war boards. Emergency gasoline rations may be obtained from local war price and rationing boards while requests for adjustment are being considered.

Modification of Shoe Ration Order

Three modifications of Shoe Ration Order 17 have been authorized by OPA. They are: (1) An additional ration for "safety" shoes, used for health protection in special work, may be acquired from the local board by any person who has spent his Ration Stamp 17, even though a member of his family has an unspent stamp, (2) sandals which can be sold ration-free are re-defined to include all sandals with an open back and a heel height of 1 1-8 inches or less, regardless of the material used in the upper, (3) certain shoes with soles made principally of rope, wood, or other non-strategic materials may be sold ration-free, regardless of the material in the upper.

Extra Food for Temporary Workers

An employer who temporarily hired workmen for periods of less than 30 days may obtain rationed foods for them by applying to farmers who hire labor during the planting and harvesting season, to employers of construction workers on temporary jobs, lumber camp operators, and other seasonal employers.

Can Sell Butter Below Ceiling

There is nothing in any OPA regulation preventing sales of butter or other commodities at lower than ceiling prices set recently at the creamery and wholesale levels. Ceilings represent the maximum prices at which this commodity may be sold.

Farm Machinery Released

Restrictions on distribution of three types of rationed farm machinery have been lifted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The orders permit manufacturers of farm cream separators to release without restriction 80 per cent of their authorized production of separators as allowed by WPB L-170 and all remaining stocks produced under L-26. It similarly permits manufacturers of power spray pumps and horse or tractor drawn rod weeders to release 100 per cent of their production under L-170 and all inventory stocks produced under L-26.

Damaged Shoes "Non-Rationed"

Shoe dealers whose stocks have been damaged by fire, water, steam or other accidental cause to the extent that they cannot be exchanged for ration currency may be authorized by district OPA offices to mark these shoes "non-rationed."

Booklet on Car Care

A manual of ABC's of vehicle maintenance for cars, trucks, and busses, outlining the kind of inspections, checks, and adjustments that should be made to assure efficient and economic operation of all types of motor vehicles, will soon be available through the Office of Defense Transportation and the field offices of the Office of War Information. (OWI offices are at Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, and Oklahoma City).

Staggered Hours for Women

Staggered hours of work so that women may shop under rationing rules, but still work in war plants and necessary services have been proposed by War Manpower Commission Chariman Paul V. McNutt. About 6,000,000 women will be in war industries this year and changes must be made in present work systems.

Better Tires for "B" and "C" Drivers

A driver with a mileage ration of more than 240 miles monthly now can have new casings of the lower qualities—Grade II—when he needs replacements. Motorists with mileage rations between 560 and 1,000 monthly, who have been eligible for new casings in the lower quality bracket only, can now get Grade I tires. The release of these new casings under rationing to "B" and "C" card holders will be for replacement of tires worn beyond the recappable stage.

Food Prices Increase Slightly

The average cost of all foods consumed by the average family advanced between mid-January and mid-February 0.5 per cent as fresh fruits and vegetables went up with increased buying because of short supplies on canned goods and in anticipation of rationing effective March 1. The usual large seasonal decline in egg prices of 13.5 per cent was primarily responsible for holding down the overall increase. The average cost of foods other than eggs rose by 1.5 per cent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

War Expenditures

The average daily rate of U. S. war expenditures reached a new high of $253,400,000 in February. The previous high in November, 1942, was surpassed by 3.6 per cent, or $8,900,000. Expenditures for war purposes totaled $6,081,000,000 in February. This was $173,000,000 or 2.8 per cent less than in January and 2½ times expenditures a year ago February.

Gas for Car Clubs

Regardless of full car clubs, no supplemental gasoline rations are to be allowed if other means of transportation in a specified area are deemed adequate by the OPA regional administrator or the OPA deputy administrator in charge of rationing.

Meyer Guides Military Work

Graduate Dean Will Represent College in Relations With Army

President J. A. Hill has announced the appointment of Dr. A. M. Meyer as general coordinator of the College's new military program. He will have direction of the training program and will represent the institution in dealings with the Army Air Forces.

Dr. Meyer is dean of the Graduate School.

An extensive remodeling program to accommodate the pre-flight trainees is under way on the campus. The College Cafeteria in the Education Building has been refinished and its equipment enlarged. Buffalo Courts and the recreation hall have undergone both remodeling and refinishing. Some priorities needed in remodeling the auto mechanics buildings and other structures will be sought this week.

Needed equipment has been purchased by the business manager from firms throughout the Southwest.

Three Canadians sleeping in one of Britain's training camps one night last summer were awakened by a tremendous crash not far away.

"What was that?" asked one. "Bombs, or thunder?"

"Bombs," was the laconic reply.

"Thank heaven," said the third. "I thought we were going to have more rain."

"What does your father do to make a living, little boy?"

"He chops down trees."

"And what does he do after he chops them down?"

"He chops them up."

V-NEWS

From Randall County Home Economists

Why do we need food? Food has three general uses and many special uses within the body. The general purposes are:

1. Supply energy.
2. Build and repair body tissues.
3. Regulate the body processes or keep the body working normally.

If you want to look your best, feel your best and do your best work, learn what foods you need, and then be sure you get them.

Foods are composed of carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals, vitamins, and cellulose or fiber. The fats and carbohydrates are used to furnish energy. Common foods rich in fat are: butter, lard, cheese, and oleomargarine. Common food rich in carbohydrate are: sugar, flour, breads, cereals, potatoes, and all sweets and starches. Protein and minerals are used to build and repair the body tissues. All meats, milk, cheese and eggs are excellent sources of both protein and minerals. Minerals are also supplied by fruits and vegetables. Vitamins, fiber and minerals are needed to regulate the body process. Whole milk, eggs, glandular meats, whole grain cereals, vegetables and fruits are often called protective foods because they supply the vitamins, fiber and minerals so essential to the proper functioning of the body process.

The average American diet is low on body building, protecting and regulating foods, and sweets, fats and starchy foods are taken in too great quantity. Here are some rules to observe in the use of starchy foods:

1. Do not eat over two starchy foods per meal.
2. Avoid hot breads; they are very difficult to digest.
3. Avoid starchy foods filled with fat.
4. Use only a moderate amount of simple cakes, pastries and puddings.
5. Eat whole grain cereals and breads.
6. Use fruits, vegetables and milk with your starchy foods.

The following are a few simple rules to help you use sugar properly:

1. Keep the total amount low.
2. Take sugar in non-concentrated forms. (Fruit and vegetables rich in sugar, simple custards and puddings are best.)
3. If you must have some candy, eat it at the end of a meal.
4. Avoid any kind of sweets between meals.
